A diagram showing a red bar and a blue bar, both labeled '0', connected to a grey bar. The red bar is on top and the blue bar is on the bottom. They are connected by a vertical line to the grey bar.

A diagram illustrating a process flow. On the left, there are two parallel horizontal bars: a red one on top and a blue one on the bottom. A vertical line connects the right end of the red bar to the right end of the blue bar. This vertical line then connects to a single grey horizontal bar on the right.

The diagram illustrates a process flow or data integration. On the left, there are two parallel horizontal bars: a red one on top and a blue one on the bottom. A vertical line connects the right ends of these two bars to a single grey bar on the right. This suggests that the red and blue components are combined or processed together to produce the final grey output.
