- The match is structured in a round of three (3) minutes in which it is allowed to ask your teammates for a change (or touch).
- The change can take place with the sole touch of the hand in any part of the body by the athlete who is fighting towards the teammate outside the tatami mat and not vice versa.
- There is no limit to the number of changes and the time an athlete stays on the square is the coach's choice.
- Changes, in order to be valid, must take place in the following ways:
  - o The athlete who fights must be inside the square;
  - o Athletes receiving the change must be with both feet out of the square.
- At the end of the regular 3 minutes, the points awarded will decide the winning team taking into account the warnings and the direct deduction points assigned by the central referee.
- In the event that, at the end of the 3 minutes, there is a tie, an extra round of one (1) minute will be held.
- If the extra round is tied, at the end of the extra round, the match will resume until at least two (2) Corner Referees simultaneously award a valid point, which will determine the winning team.
- For anything not mentioned, reference is made to the Taekwon-Do I.T.F.
